

Actant ExStream Launch

London UK: Monday 28 February 2011

Actant, the market-leader in quoting solutions for trading professionals on the electronic derivatives markets, today launched their new low latency, programmable, algorithmic trading application, Actant ExStream.

Actant ExStream seeks out trading opportunities across multiple derivatives markets and multiple asset classes, managing order execution once identified.

Issues such as the loss of liquidity in the markets, market volatility - or lack of it, fewer opportunities and tighter margins mean it's never been harder to make money from trading. But the launch of Actant ExStream looks to address this, with a powerful combination of automation, scale and customisation, offering traders a new level of trading intelligence, whilst continuing to focus on low latency as the primary goal.

The product is applicable to users trading as exchange members, or as users trading as non-members who trade via third party execution brokers. The same low latency and programming flexibility is applicable to either user.

Chris Stevens, Head of Trading at My Capital states,

"I have been trading on electronic markets since 1993 and have watched with interest all developments within trading software. I think that any trader's goal is to automate as much as possible, allowing them the time to ensure that they participate in the markets that they really want to get involved in and create the compound portfolio that they really want. I believe that Actant's ExStream application makes this a reality, as it allows market participants to monitor multiple products efficiently, trade when and where they want to, with the capability to work strategies in the market and constantly look for the best hedge, taking all of the greeks into consideration when doing so.

It's a no-brainer for us. No other trading engine comes close."

Traditionally, this sort of software has only been available to the investment banks and other trading houses with deep pockets. The arrival of Actant ExStream onto the market changes that. Not only can it handle the biggest players, but enables any trader to genuinely compete.

Adds Chris,

"I think the beauty of this product is that it has the ability to bring the next level of automation to the masses."

Actant's CEO, Peter Grant states 'We are extremely pleased to have received such positive feedback on the power of Actant ExStream from the trading community already. We are happy for it to be proven time and again by means of our 30 Day Free Trial.'

For further information, please contact Charlotte Andersen, VP Marketing, +44 20 3167 4865