Paul Cairns joins Actant as European Sales Director

Actant, the market-leader in quoting solutions for trading professionals on the electronic derivatives markets, today announced the appointment of Paul Cairns as European Sales Director. His arrival coincides with the launch of Actant's new low latency, programmable, algorithmic trading application, Actant ExStream.

Paul has worked in financial sales for six years, and his broad portfolio of sales expertise includes selling a range of retail products (ETRADE), institutional brokerage services (MF Global) and was most recently at Orc Software. During his time at Orc he deployed bespoke options and algorithmic trading solutions for some of the major banks and market-makers within Europe and played an integral role in striking up key relationships with sell-side clearers and other technology companies such as Fixnetix and Options Technology.

Actant's CEO, Peter Grant states 'We are delighted to announce Paul's appointment. He is the first of several key hires spear-heading our launch of Actant ExStream.'
